They also demonstrated advanced metrology instruments like Portable CMM (PMT Alpha P, M, E Models), 3D Laser Scanners (Hand Scanners, Long Range Scanners), Laser Trackers (Faro, API, Leica Absolute Tracker etc.), Metrology Softwares like CAM 2 Measure.10, Geomagic Polyworks, Power Inspect.

Lastly they shown how to scan entire plant/building/structure to create same replica at another location i.e. plant simulation which comes under digital manufacturing domain.

All 84 Students were very curious while learning and asked different queries related to this technology. AMS 3D team solved all minute queries of students. Students were satisfied and confident while grasping this innovative technology and its demonstration.

At the end of the day program concluded with Questions and feedback from students and vote of thanks by Event Coordinator.

Details of the event:

The department of Mechanical Engineering had organized guest lecture on "Study abroad after engineering" for the benefit of pre-final year students and Third year students of D Y Patil School of Engineering. Mr. Shreyas Ramakrishnan, Regional Head - West, Jamboree Education Pvt. Ltd was the resource persons for this training program.

During the formal inaugural session, Prof. Pooja R. Nawathe, Coordinator of Training and Placement welcomed the gathering and also introduced resource persons to the students.

In first session he discussed Engineering is growing as a field of study in colleges around the world as people continue to realize how important, interesting and lucrative this field is.

H. O. D.

Dept. of Mechanical Engg.
Dr. D. Y. Patil School of Engineering, Lohegaon, Pune.

Engineering uses many different areas of knowledge in the construction of machines and devices. Students in engineering are well prepared to put their skills to use in a variety of interesting careers, from building cars, spaceships, and computers to designing environmentally friendly electrical systems.

Few engineering majors in the U.S. decide to study abroad, which makes sense -- an engineering course load is enough work as it is! However, there are quite a few top-rated engineering programs internationally that would be the perfect place to continue your technical studies, while also having the opportunity to study another language and explore a new country.

In second session he discussed about different exams like GMAT and GRE.

What is the GMAT?

Accepted by more than 7,000 management programs in India, US and other countries, GMAT® is a computer adaptive test that assesses analytical writing, quantitative and verbal skills of students applying for MBA and similar courses to a graduate school of business. The GMAT® Exam has been the test of choice for world's leading business schools for one reason – it works. Quite simply, no other exam lets you showcase the skills that matter most in the business school classroom and in your career.

The examination is entirely computer-based and scored on a maximum of 800. Though the GMAT score alone cannot guarantee admission into a B-school, it is one of the major factors taken into consideration.

The GMAT® has four sections – Verbal, Quantitative, Integrated Reasoning and Analytical Writing Assessment. The following is the GMAT® test structure.

What is the GRE?

A standardized test, the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) measures verbal, mathematical and analytical writing skills of students aspiring to undergo their graduate studies abroad. The test intends to aid graduate schools (of all fields other than business) in assessing an applicant's potential for advanced study. Most universities in the US, while inviting applications for MS programs, ask for GRE® scores.

The examination is entirely a computer-based test, and no two students get an identical set of questions. The test is scored on a maximum of 340. The GRE® score alone cannot guarantee admission into a university or college - the test is only one of the major factors taken into consideration in the long process of an applicant getting admitted into the program that they desire.

The GRE® test has three parts - Quantitative, Verbal and Analytical Writing Assessment. The following is the GRE® test structure:

At the end of the day program concluded with Questions and feedback from students and vote of thanks by Coordinator.
